Anonymous Letters

The Parish Council received an anonymous letter on 20 June 2011, requesting that a Parish Councilor be asked to resign. As the letter was anonymous, we cannot respond directly to the person or persons behind the letter, so have had to do so openly in the Newsletter.

The Parish Council totally reject both the request and the slur that lay behind it. We have two comments:

1. At no time has the Parish Councilor concerned been charged, committed to trial or convicted of any offence. Consequently, they are not, and should not be, barred from holding office as a Parish Councilor.
2. The Parish Council, and its councilors individually, are here to represent the community. We do not believe that anonymous letters are the correct, or the best, route to communicate with the Parish Council. If anyone wishes to communicate with the Parish Council confidentially, they should approach a Parish Councilor in person stating that they wish the matter discussed to be kept confidential.

On Saturday July 16th Clare Stephenson is doing a sponsored Parachute Jump at Grindale. We wish Clare good luck and thank her for offering us half of the sponsorship money for Church. I hope lots of you have sponsored Clare, she is also donating the other half to the Riding for the Disabled Group at Scarborough.

On Sunday July 17th , we will be serving cream cakes, tea and coffee at Rudston House during the N.G.S. Open Garden Day.

We look forward to your continued support.
Best wishes

MOSAIC PAVEMENTS

Some of you may be interested in the Roman Villa discovered in 1933 in Rudston. A picture of one of the mosaic pavements, named "Venus" was featured in last month's newsletter. Colin Campbell, a former Editor of the Rudston newsletter has told me there is a book written in 1980 by I.M.Stead about the Rudston Roman Villa if anyone is interested. The book is available secondhand at £8.50 on amazon.co.uk Also the mosaics are to be seen in the Hull and East Riding museum - free! See www.hullcc.gov.uk/museumcollections/subtheme.php/irn=415

Nature News

Summer has arrived and with it the unpredictable weather. Most of the birds have produced their offspring with a few species attempting second broods but there have been no reports of spotted flycatchers or turtle doves. Yellow wagtails have successfully bred in an area by the Gypsy race and greater spotted woodpeckers are teaching their young to feed from nuts in bird feeders. The multitude of mallard ducklings seem to have fallen foul of predators but there are still some, now well grown, which have survived. There have been no further reports of the cuckoo being either heard or seen and it has to be concluded that its numbers have diminished considerably. Although house martins and swifts arrived as usual their numbers have proved to be considerably less than in previous years and linnets have been scarce in the area due to their preferred breeding habitat of gorse being severely frost damaged earlier in the year.

Early purple and common spotted orchids have shown well as have cowslips, pignut and a wide variety of roadside flowers.

Badgers and cubs have been reported and foxes have even been seen in village gardens but there are still few hedgehogs around and there have been regular reports of water voles together with their young. Several deer have been reported including young with their mothers and both pipistrelle and long-eared bats have been positively identified with the aid of bat detectors allowing positive separation of species.

Butterflies have been surprisingly few in numbers although there were the "whites" earlier and they will be back with their second brood later in the year, brimstones have intermittently carried on right up to the present and a few common blue and small copper butterflies have been seen. Moths have however been prolific with numbers not apparently affected by winter weather conditions with more unusual species like shoulder striped wainscot, blood vein, green arches and purple clay appearing.

Please keep reports coming.

From the Vicarage,

Many thanks to all of you who came to the Heritage Project drop-in event at church. It was a brilliant day in many ways. First, it was just good to get together over a cuppa and piece of cake with others who are interested in understanding more about the remarkable place we live in. Second, those who came had a wealth of local knowledge about Rudston's monolith, landscape, church history, village history natural history and culture. Third, there were plenty of good ideas about how we can make more of what we have and share it with all those who live here and visit. Finally a good number of us wanted to either be part of a project group or be involved in other ways. The next stage is to pull interested folk together and develop a plan of what we can usefully do and try and get some funds to do it! (Leader have already earmarked £5,000 to get us started). Anyone who missed the day and wants to know more about what is happening please get in touch.

On a very different note some of you have met the Reverend Barbara Hodgson (Curate at Emmanuel, Bridlington) who spent some time with me last year when she wanted to see what it was like being a country Vicar. Well she liked it so much Barbara has taken a post as House-for-duty priest living at Burton Fleming. She will start at the end of July and you will see more of her around.

On a last note, this is the July and August edition which means Summer is upon us. I'm looking forward to a good break in summer so I hope you don't see much of me! Have a fine and relaxing summer.

Glyn

Crosslands Column

News from Thornholme Wind Farm (dated 3rd June) is that the proposal has been slightly altered. The number and height of the turbines remains, but a couple have been moved a little further away from two “green lanes”, after finding that they are used by horse riders as well as walkers. The results of their survey at the exhibition at Harpham in April showed 35 percent in favour and 52 percent against (rest undecided) which the company considers encouraging. They have responded to concerns over noise, T.V. Reception and “shadow flicker” (which shouldn’t effect anyone) and are, or will be, taking steps to alleviate any problems. They expect to be able to present finalised plans to East Riding of Yorkshire Council in August, and will keep the parish council informed. As a final “sweetener”, they have promised a Trust Fund of £45,000 per annum to local communities.

Everyone is well aware of the forthcoming T.V. Digital switchover I know, but I am to mention it once more. It is Humber & Wolds Council this time. If by any chance you think there may be someone, particularly the elderly or disabled, who is still unsure what to do, please let me know. I have the leaflets and I have to log any cases referred in this way.

I recently completed and returned a Recycling questionnaire to East Riding of Yorkshire Council aiming for more promotion facilities. I pointed out that I was reluctant to advertise the Rudston’s too much, as we often suffer from crammed full containers and overflowing, as it is. (as I write the cans & plastic bottles one is just that) Now, from the latest news, it would appear that there will inevitably be less usage later this year anyway. As you will have read, a program is starting in the area now, which will enable everyone to put glass bottle in their blue bins. I would expect that to make a serious dent in the amount of revenue that the parish council currently enjoys from Recycling - the latest benefit being the £200 donation towards the Royal Wedding Mugs. (Hope they were OK by the way). Although not “theirs” I also had to list the Clothes & Shoes facility, and since then we seem to have gained another of those - see Bosville car park!

Police news for May lists one incident in the area : theft of a” drive belt from an irrigator” . Police “surgery” will have taken place the morning after the parish council meeting in June, and a brief notice was placed as I wasn’t sure if they had advertised the event themselves. (I only received one week’s notice of this myself)

Age UK are introducing a Good Neighbourhood Scheme in the area, for which they are seeking volunteers to provide company, assistance, run errands and perform small tasks around the home for older people. They stress that this would not seek to encroach on any carer duties that the person may already have. A poster has been displayed, but you can find out more from the Age UK Beverley office 01482 869181.

This article is being submitted early, and before the parish council meeting on 22nd June, which I expect to have to miss. The next meeting should be mid-August, but the actual date will be advertised in the usual way. So that’s all until September - it might be a decent summer if we get plenty of rain !
